

Eruption Celebration Events

On May 22, 1915, a large explosive eruption of Lassen Peak brought national attention that set the stage for the establishment of Lassen Volcanic National Park on August 9, 1916. This May, join Lassen Volcanic staff and scientists from the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS) for special events celebrating Lassen's 100th anniversary.

Event Descriptions

Devastated Area Walk

Join a USGS scientist for a walk through the Devastated Area and learn the details of its devastation one hundred years ago.

Evening Campfire

Enjoy a campfire, visit with geologists, and learn about the volcanoes that made this beautiful landscape. Come ask questions about the park's geology at this informal gathering.

Sulphur Works Wonders

USGS scientists and park staff share the meanings of the hot waters of Lassen Volcanic National Park and the Red Planet on a walking tour at Sulphur Works hydrothermal area.

Starry Nights

Join a ranger and volunteer astronomer to view the starlit heavens above.

USGS Presentations

Join USGS scientists for highlights of Lassen's 1915 eruptions and the park's role in the research of volcanism and volcanic hazards.

Eruption Celebration

Join USGS scientists and other special guests in celebration of the 1915 Lassen Peak eruption series.

Eruption Commemoration

Join us for this special event commemorating the climatic eruption that created what is now known as the Devastated Area.

Volcano Discoveries

Visit Lassen Volcanic National Park's Discovery Center near Manzanita Lake and learn more about volcanos, eruptions, lava, mudflows, and ash through exhibits and children's activities.
